One of the most successful afternoon dances ever given here was that held on board La Victorieuse by Admiral Meyer. The desorations on board were exceedingly tasteful, and the offoot very striking. A wealth of greenery was used, and no pains had been spared to convert the deck into something like a garden. The guests fully appreciated the hospitable energy and lavish outlay of trouble which gave them so much en-

The Ball given by the officers of the Buffs on Tuesday night showed what the Regiment can do in the way of entertainment. Never had the City Hall looked more imposing than on the occasion referred to. The decorations were, naturally, of a martial character, from the huge Gatling that menaced intruders from the head of the staircase to the bristling bayonets that lined the ball-room, the lauding, and the staircase. The tattered colours that bung above the Regimental trophy in the ball-room, inscribed with names woven into English history, told of many a foughten field, of deeds of prowess that shall question, but it seems that the authorities think yet impel to victory the gallant soldiers whose proper not to interfere with that class which glorious privilege it is to carry that proud banner of fame. The general effect of the decorations was admirable; the designs were simple, but brilliant, rich in colour, and bright with the pression and representation of anguish would, it gleam of polished steel. The sons of Mars and properly applied, make his fortune on the stage Neptune mustered strongly, and the assemblage was a gay one, the ball-room well filled, and the dancing kept up with great spirit until about informs him that he, the suffering pleader, havhalf-past one o'clock, when the company began to thin rather quickly, a fact chiefly due to a large private dance given the previous evening. The coin (here he weeps); that he is afraid to go home Buffs Ball was in every respect a most un qualified success, and surpassed, I believe, any Regimental ball yet held in the City Hall.

To those who went to enjoy the sport as more onlookers, and whose pecuniary interest in the events was limited to participation in a sweep or a mild bet on or against the field, the Races must have given unalloyed satisfaction.

The Race Ball usually winds up the festivities of the season in Hongkong, and may do so this [378] year also, but I have heard a whisper to the effect that the Tarantula Society talk of giving "one more" of their pleasant denoes. Some of my lady friends will doubtless be glad to have

What is far more serious and tenfold more lamentable than the loss of the ship was the fatality with which the disaster was attended. Eleven good citizens and true of the Republic, and three Chinese went down with the vessel, filled rapidly after the shock of atriking. There has been no such melancholy loss of life in conengaged. The worst of it is that the sets on this coast are so eccentric as to preclude the possibility of reducing them to any system.

If I were called upon to find an illustration of the apathy of men, I think I could not find better instance than in the persistent discouragement bestowed upon the various projects which have, from time to time, been brought forward for the institution of a steam laundry in this colony. It was not that such an establishment The Porte has ordered the Governor of Tripoli was unnecessary, for high and low have conto make preparations [? to resist the Italian de- | ourred in the opinion that the Chinese ahobies are an "awful bad lot;" that they thrash the clothing to ribbons, soorch it shamefully, knock off all the buttons, basides being guilty of other high primes and misdemeanours, not the least of them being infecting clothing with disease, loading it out on hire, or wearing it themselves. I suppose we may soon look upon the washing of clothing by means of machinery as a fuil accompli in this colony.

I note that a new set of amended rules regarding the signalling of the arrivals of vessels from the Peak has been issued by the Government The only alteration of any moment, however, is: the following addition to Rule 6 .- "If the mail steamer is not in the harbour when it is too dark to distinguish flags, a red light will be exhibited at the West Yard Arm, or a green light at the East Yard Arm until she anchors," This is a step in advance, and shows that our Administration is legain yesterday, four out of the nine events heanxious to keep pace with the times. The mails do not often come in after dark, but they do occasionally creep in Apon us unawares, somewhat to our inconvegience. It will be a decided advantage to have such a notification of their arrival as is promised in the amended rules.

I have ere this touched upon the mendicancy makes our roads a nuisance to traverse. Perhaps they may think it desirable to interfere in a case of this kind :- A lad whose powers of facial exaccests the pedestrian and in heart-rending tones, with accompanying gestures of despair, ing been entrusted with 20 cents for the purpos of marketing, has had the misfortune to lose the without the necessary comestibles (here he howls); for if he does his aunt will beat him death (here he surrenders himself to the abandon of despair, throws himself on the ground, and tries to knock his brains out on the stones, &c). The respect paid by the Chinese for the "written character" is proverbial. As wi many other matters, however, there is a good deal of false sentiment in connection with thi veneration for written or printed words, and i is by no means so universal as some persons imagine. The fact that in a recent issue of the Peking Gazette a Decree is published forbidding the paper manufactories in the capital to re manufacture printed paper and all shops traffic in such waste paper, is a proof that Chinese thrift has in that instance at least been ac customed to triumph over Chinese sontiment. BANIAN. HONGKONG RACES, 1883."

The third day of the races was again all that could be desired, a bright sun shedding its enlivening rays on the pleasure seekers, and the heat being tempered by cool breeze. The attendance in the enclosure and on the centre of the ground was about equal to the preceding days, and a long programme was worked off very succosfully. Fields were again large, and sport excellent, there being plenty of hotly contested races and exciting finishes. The star of Mr. Paul's popular stable was very much in the ascendant ing credited to him, making a total of nine first places in the three days. The Gordon-Smith confederacy, succeeded in taking two first places. The opening event, the Cathay Cup, fell some-- what unexpectedly to their pony Bothwell, and the Consolstion Stakes was secured by Allegro Driving Cloud, which thus won a third event Ladies' Purse, gaining Mr. Paul his first success to his numerous laurels in fine style, and gained Mr. Yorke his only victory for the day. The NAVE PLATE, value $300, presented by Tajmahal at last gained premier position, when he won for Mr. Paul the Keechong Cup n the easiest manuer possible. The Garrison Cup, the following race, fell to the same stable, Reefer carrying it off most creditably: Mr. Sassoon accred a victory in the Nil Desperandum stakes with Rebel, which started fovourite. The last race fell to Mr. Paul's Prejudice, which started a warm favourite and carried off this event very readily, making the ninth winning mount of Mr. Nickels. An accident occurred Apropos of the small-pox, it is curious that in at the start for the Ladies' Purse, which at first

There had been a remarkably good race, and she compliment ed Mr. Aubert on the way he had won it. Mr. Aubert said he had not prepared himself with any remarks, as he had no expectation of finding himself in the position he secured in the race. He begged, however, to thank Miss Thornton for her kindness in presenting the prise; and the ladies of Hongkong, by whom it was given. He then handed a bouquet to Miss Thornton. Hearty cheers were given for Mr. Aubert, followed by three still louder ones, Laying aside, however, the question of Seven actual liability or exemption of owners for the payment of such tonnage tax, we look to what may be characterised as an unjust demand,—so far as the port of Foodbow is concerned, -after what has transpired. Had the previous demand been 3 legally upheld, and the payment of such dues enforced, the assumption is that our merchants would not have possessed themselves of the same number, or even perhaps any of this kind of craft, o but have made other arrangements for the conveyance of their merchandise for so short a distence and Payoda Auchorage. Now, although cargo boats for this shallow river, are inestimable, and really a sine qua non during the busy season, still the possession of such by even the largest traders, is not absolutely necessary, as they can avail themselves of the services of those of the firm of regular Carriers, who possess a sufficient number of these boats as to meet the most preent demands. The levy of tonnage ter firm, as even if they had not a monopoly, they would naturally raise their freights to meet these dnes, and be perfectly justified in so doing. We understand that the Commissioner General has again been communicated with upon the subject. and reminded of his previous decision, arrived at a few years ago, and we rest assured that, in common justice, his decision upon the former occasion will not be reversed.

Two daring attempts at burglary were made during Sunday night, the 11th inst. The first promises which the burglars tried to enter are situate in a street called Hoang-ah Mue, and are usually uncompied during the night. The thieves resorted to a rather novel, and certainly most dangerous, method of effecting an entrance: a quantity of kerosine oil being brought into requisition, and ignited close to the fastening of the door with the view of making a sufficiently large hole as to admit the arm. The smoke and smoll of burnaroused the occupants of adjoining premises to a sense of their danger, and the thleves finding they were discovered, decamped Within about half a mile distance, another attempt at house breaking (evidently by the same gang) was made, and in this instance gunpowder was the agent used and, with the latter, the premises were blown open, but we understand that the amount of plander was inconsiderable. None of this band of marandors have as yet been apprehended, and we should most certainly like to know the use of the native police occupying the Gaard house, who beyond visiting foreigners about four times a year for the purpose of soliciting cumsianes, are rarely ever seen on either day or night duty. -Herald.

YOKOHAMA

The latest of the interminable rumours conneoted with the railways is one to the effect that Tetsudo Kwaisha; although Mr. Inouyo, superintendent of the railway bureau, is said to be very warmly oppused to the project. The Mai Nichi Shinben says that the new prvette Tenrio-kan, sister ship to the Kaimenhan launched last year, is fast approaching completion; and as at present arranged will be launched early next month. Work is progressing at the Yokosuka arsonal, which presents an interesting picture of active industry.

The Jiji Shingo stated that Korean officials show a much more friendly disposition towards Inpanese than they formerly did. Visite to the legation now in charge of Mr. Takesoye are more numerous than when Mr. Handbush represented Japan in Korea; and this possibly is one of the highest tributes that could be paid to the character of Mr. Hausbuss.

Mr. Gotsuji, a kuwazoko in Kioto, is the leaier of a movement for the nobles to present a man of war to the government, in furtherance of the desire of the Mikado to strengthen the navy His proposition has been unanimously accepted and 800,000 yen derived from the profits on their shares in the Fifteenth National Bank, has been roted for the purpose. A correspondent of the Hoshi Shimbun, writng from Tsakigata-mura, Kabate-gori, Ishikari, says, that since the latter part of November the sun has mrely been visible there the sky being overcust continually. Snow commenced to fall about the middle of December and continued to the early part of February, at which time the snow was neventeen to eighteen feet thick; the thermometer standing 16° below zero. A GOOD STORY OF SERJEANT

BALLANTYNE. There is a rather good story told about inquiry. Serjeant Ballantyne and the present Baron Huddleston, who, after a life of tuft-hunting. was raised into his seventh heaven by his marriage with Lady Di. Beauclerc, sister of the Duke of St. Albans. The two were at Hamburg in the days when cards were not prohibited. Huddleston, as has been said, was notorious around this town looking like the head for his tuft-hunting proclivities. THE POPE AND THE MASSACRE OF ST. BARTHOLOMEW.

The other day an exceedingly valuable . collection of autographs was disposed of in Paris, which included, amongst other remarkable items the letter written by Pope Gregory XIII. to Charles IX. in order to dissingte the last scruples of the King about 1 the massacre of St. Bartholomew. The arithenticity of this epistle has been disputed with the utmost vehemence by Roman Catholic writers in past days, but it is now proved beyond all cavil. "The war waged against heresy," says the Pope in this disgraceful document, "is a holy war, and it must be pursued for the glory of God, in order to extiring those sad heresies which disturb your hangdom. I send you, to show how imcast at Rome to commemorate the massacre, · it is vain for the upholders of the Papacy to contend, as they have hitherto done, that the head of their Church was not responsible for this great atrocity.

BEECHER'S BELIEF.

Beecher finally accepts the doctrine evolution, and denies the fall of Adam and imputed sin to all his descendants; but he hesitates about accepting its logical consequence, the doing away with the divine scheme of salvation. But if there was no fall there was no need of a scheme of redemption that involved the sacrifice upon the cross of the incarnated Divinity. There is no escape from this conclusion. Either man fell from a state of perfection and It is well known that although many dis- "brought sin into the world and all our tinguished men have had very large brains, woe," or the doctrine of the atonement is a these have been occasionally equalled by the surplusage of theology that should be abanbrains of persons who never displayed remark- doned.
